

Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

Read more about Early Journal Content at <http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/individuals/early-journal-content>.

JSTOR is a digital library of academic journals, books, and primary source objects. JSTOR helps people discover, use, and build upon a wide range of content through a powerful research and teaching platform, and preserves this content for future generations. JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization that also includes Ithaka S+R and Portico. For more information about JSTOR, please contact support@jstor.org.

The distribution of the subject matter of the book is simple and natural. The topics discussed are sufficiently considered for the purposes of the work. The whole treatise is eminently practical, the authors having never at any time been tempted aside from the very matter in hand by any elaborate or lengthened discussion of even such interesting topics as eminent domain and easement. After some examination of the work, we feel warranted in saying that it meets a want in our libraries in an acceptable manner.

COMMENTARIES ON THE CRIMINAL LAW. By JOEL PRENTISS BISHOP, author of "Commentaries on the Law of Marriage and Divorce." Vol. II. Boston: Little, Brown & Company, 1858. pp. 845.

We have heretofore spoken in terms of commendation of Mr. Bishop's former labors, Am. Law Reg. Vol. IV. p. 512. This volume is an addition to the first, and is intended more especially for the actual practitioner. For this purpose it is well adapted; the remarkable faculty of Mr. Bishop is, we think, his clear enunciation of the result of the authorities, not always, in criminal law especially, a very easy task. New works and new editions of recognized treatises on criminal jurisprudence are of great importance to the practitioner; he must know the very last adjudications and the latest views of scientific law writers; the practice in the Sessions is sometimes sharp and technical, and the well disciplined mind, which regards legal principles and points, rather than mere cases, is sure to stand upon some "vantage ground." We commend Mr. Bishop's book as one of great scientific and practical value and in every way useful to the profession, and the more easily accessible by means of a good analytical index of contents.

PENNSYLVANIA STATE REPORTS, VOL. XXVIII. Comprising cases adjudged in the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. By JOSEPH CASEY, State Reporter. Vol. IV. Containing cases decided in January and May Terms, 1857. Philadelphia: Kay & Brothers, Law Booksellers, Publishers and Importers, 19 South Sixth street, 1858. pp. 575.

We have Mr. Casey's fourth contribution to the Pennsylvania Reports, containing the cases decided in January and May Terms, 1857. As usual, we find a great variety of cases on the various branches of law which interest and agitate a large community. The reporter's duty seems to be well and